the intersection of carbon and silicon intelligence

CIQSI

There's no such thing as "AI ethics."

ClqSi

the intersection of carbon and silicon intelligence

Not new. Just faster.

A completion is a pen
that writes at the speed of thought and never gets tired. That is the whole innovation.

The old kind of persuasion,
unbottlenecked.

Two ways to frame the same output

TREATED AS NEW

A special, contaminated category with its own review board.

No proportionality, no context. Just a veto.

TREATED AS SPEECH

Everything we already know about intent, harm, context.

The law has done this since Athens.

Bias was never new either

The researchers behind early statin trials studied middle-aged
men almost exclusively,
for a generation.

The model didn't invent that failure. It inherited it.

Europe can hold that pen or not.

It should at least argue about the right thing while it decides.

The pen is speech. Treat it like speech.
